Answer all questions.

1. Scenario: Mari and Horace are solicitors working on different sides of the same case. Mari is a senior crown prosecutor working for the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS). Horace is a defence lawyer who represents defendants charged with criminal offences.

Mari believes in swift justice that promotes the rights of victims and the powers of the police and prosecuting agencies.

Horace believes that defendants' rights are of primary importance and that defendants are innocent until proven guilty. In addition, he believes that there should be laws that restrict the powers of the police.

- (a) Describe the model of justice that reflects Horace's viewpoint. [6]

3. Scenario: Marlon Evans, the founder of the penal reform charity Broken System, is running a campaign to be elected as a town councillor. His campaign is focused on law and order. He proposes the introduction of environmental measures that will facilitate improved crime control in the town.

Broken System campaigns for criminals to be rehabilitated rather than punished for their crimes. It opposes the view that prison is an effective measure in crime prevention.
